Dear friends and colleagues.

Members of the Center for Paleoethnological Research and the Department of Archaeology of Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv wish you a Happy New Year (0 BP - 2021 calAD) and wish you the implementation of all plans and ideas this year.

We are pleased to invite you to participate in the formation of a new collection of scientific papers with a working title

social adaptations in variable environments

The planned collection will be dedicated to the 80th anniversary of Mykhailo Ivanovych Gladkikh - a famous Ukrainian archaeologist, doctor of historical sciences, Professor of Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv.

The publication will accept original researches on the relationship between the natural environment and the material culture of prehistoric societies in Europe in English and Ukrainian, up to 10,000 words.

The volume will be published in online and printed versions by the Center for Paleoethnological Research in VITA ANTIQUA series, 2021: <http://vitaantiqua.org.ua/en/main>. Each article will have a DOI (digital object identifier) in the Crossref system. The materials of the collection will be used to create a multimedia training course "Nature and Society in Prehistoric Europe" <http://vovkcenter.org.ua/en/naturesociety/>.

All information with the requirements for the articles, you can find here <http://vitaantiqua.org.ua/en/the-procedure-for-designing-and-submitting-a-publication-for-publication>

Please confirm your participation in the formation of the collection by February 1, 2021 to th.vovk.center@gmail.com. In the letter, it is desirable to indicate the names and positions of the authors, the working title of the proposed article.

The deadline for submission of articles is May 1, 2021.

Sincerely,

The Editorial Board of VITA ANTIQUA publishing
